SECURITY BANKERS PLAYED IN REPORT OF SENATE GROUP

Committee Finds Methods Used by Investment Houses 'Scandalous' and 'Shocking' and Violative of Business Ethics.

REPORT TO BE BASE FOR LEGISLATION

'Preferred Lists,' Price Pegging and Foreign Bond Sales Among Practices Condemned.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—(AP)—Methods used by American investment bankers in selling billions of dollars of securities now almost worthless were described today by a senate committee as "scandalous," "shocking" and at times "violative of the most elementary principles of business ethics."

One big flaw, the committee found as a result of its stock market banking investigation, was that bankers "frequently did not have decent regard" for the investors' interests.

A third installment in the banking committee's report will be made public next week. It and the previous chapters will be used as a basis for further legislation when congress meets in January.

Leading Firms Cited. The committee cited past practices of J. P. Morgan & Company; Kuhn, Loeb & Company; the National City Company; the National City Bank of New York; Dillon, Read & Company; and other big investment organizations, in distributing domestic securities totaling $35,000,000,000 and foreign bonds exceeding $7,000,000,000 since the World War.

It said the investment bankers did nothing to "cure the speculative fever" which swept over the investors in his field from 1926 to 1929, "pegged prices" to insure sale of bonds known to be unstable, and sold securities to "preferred lists" to extend his "influence and control over individuals in high places."

Preferred Lists Scored. Referring to a "preferred list" published by J. P. Morgan & Company and Kuhn, Loeb & Company, which included government officials and some of the leaders of both democratic and republican parties, the committee said:

"The bankers deny, 'perhaps too vehemently,' that they expect any special consideration for the persons included in the 'preferred lists.'"

"The granting of these preferential participations (in issues at prices lower than those at which securities were offered on the open market) on the one hand and their acceptance on the other created a community of interest and similarity of viewpoint between donor and recipient which argued well for their mutual welfare and ill for that of the public."

Assumption of Power. "Implicit in the bestowal of favors on this magnificent scale is a pervasive assumption of power and privilege. Implicit in the acceptance of such favors is a recognition of that power and privilege. The preferred lists, with all their grave implications, cast a shadow over the entire financial scene."

The committee said that in floating issues, the investment bankers used "high pressure" methods and "flagrant misrepresentations and concealments" in prospectuses on which the investing public relied for information.

Bond Sale Assailed. It particularly assailed the sale of Peruvian bonds by the National City Company and of Brazilian bonds by Dillon, Read Company after their employees had furnished advance information as to the finances of those countries.

"Out of the $180,000,000 Brazilian bonds sold by Dillon, Read & Company to the American public," the report recounted, "there were outstanding at the time of the hearing October 12, 1933, a net total of $114,000,000 which are in default."

The investigators added that $322,448,100 of securities of foreign corporations were outstanding as of

CONTACT RENEWED WITH BYRD CABIN

Second Tractor Expedition Starts Toward Isolated Leader's Base.

LITTLE AMERICA, Antarctica, Aug. 4.—(Delayed)—(AP)—Via MacKay Radio—Radio communication has been restored with Admiral Richard E. Byrd at Bolling advance weather base, 123 miles by trail south of here, for the first time since July 27.

He reported his receiver was not functioning, but gave no indication that otherwise all was not well.

Today another tractor expedition set forth in a second attempt to reach Admiral Byrd's advance base on the Ross ice barrier, where he is keeping a lone vigil. The first was forced to turn back in a storm, reporting the flag-marked trail had been largely obliterated.

Four Depart. Three men under Dr. Thomas Poulter in tractor No. 1, dragged two couple of sledges, departed under an overcast sky, 18 days ahead of the south-swinging sun. As the morning wore on ribbons of light from the sun below the horizon gave a fair half-light.

The party carried two months' ration, in addition to a considerable quantity of gasoline beyond the requirements of the journey. This will be placed at the advance base for the use of tractors on later journeys. The total load is 472 gallons, weighing about two tons.

There is no telling how long the journey may take. "To make a prophecy," said Dr. Poulter, "we may put through in a couple of days, and again we might be out there a long time. If we meet with an accident or are stopped by blizzards, there is no telling."

Plans for attack on the lonely trail have been slightly altered this time. Dr. Poulter's previous instructions compelled him to hold to the trail marked by the southern party last fall, in order to reduce to a minimum the danger of falling into a crevasse in the trail.

The flags put down last fall, however, have been all but buried by winter drift and blizzards, and the party spent hours trying to locate them. Dr. Poulter intends to make a straight job of navigation. On the strength of his observations two weeks ago he believes that the danger from crevasses is considerably reduced by winter drift and cold which have firmly bridged treacherous gaps in the crust.

300 Reported Killed By Floods in Persia

TEHRAN, Persia, Aug. 5.—(AP)—More than 300 persons are reported to have lost their lives in a devastating flood at Firozkouh between Tehran and Meshed.

Many of those drowned were children, it was stated by dispatches coming out of the district.

POLICE MOBILIZED BY NEW ORLEANS TO JAIL HUEY LONG

Clash Feared Near as Civil Officers Seek To Enforce Court Order Against Troops.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 5.—(UP)—The city mobilized today for battle against state militia, determined to jail Senator Huey P. Long and national guard commanders for alleged contempt of court.

Fourteen men described as "machine gun experts" were sworn in as special police to reinforce the city's army of 800 police and 500 deputized citizens. Each of the 14 was given a Thompson sub-machine gun. They were placed under the charge of Captain Joseph Sonnenberg, machine gun expert of the police department.

Sonnenberg said the men were all New Orleans World War veterans who had learned to handle the new "Tommy" guns, favorite weapon of big city gangsters. The new recruits took their posts with grim demeanor, garbed in civilian clothes.

Police Superintendent George Reyer announced that the city had just received a $5,000 shipment of machine guns, tear gas and arsenic bombs. A detachment of troops was holding the registrar of voter's office, across a 30-foot street from city hall.

Reinforcements were entrenched under Jackson barracks and at Washington artillery headquarters. Their strength was uncertain. Some reports said there were 900 militiamen in the city.

Fifteen hundred devotee persons face starvation in the city an indirect result of the strife between Huey Long's machine and the city government. He was taken to the city government feeding them because the state legislature failed to provide its share of relief funds last month. The relief bill

Chosewood Jr., of 494 Conover street, Sunday night. He reported that the Chosewood car stopped in the middle of the block without provocation and without a warning signal.

Jealousy and Suspicion Pay Big Dividends to 'Detectives'

Hundreds of Atlantans Victimized and Many Homes Broken Up by Racketeers Dealing in Green Eyes.

By RALPH T. JONES. Hundreds of Atlanta couples, happily married people, have been tricked into jealousy and quarrels which have led to separation and divorce by unscrupulous private detectives and equally unethical lawyers, according to W. L. Owen, of the Atlanta police department. Mr. Owen is special investigator in the office of Chief of Police T. O. Sturdivant.

"It has developed into a regular racket," Mr. Owen said Saturday, "a racket that by its very nature and the circumstances in which it places its victims, is extremely hard to scotch."

Mr. Owen pointed out that there are only five or six properly licensed private detective agencies in the city of Atlanta and advised all who contact so-called private investigators to immediately communicate with the office of Chief Sturdivant. A careful record of all licensed legitimate detective agencies is kept there and, unless the man who tells you he is a private detective is so licensed, the probability is that he is not.

Counsel Fee Small. The divorce racket is a development of comparatively recent date, locally. Its primary object is to induce one of the two victims, the husband or the wife, to engage the services of the so-called private detective, at so much per diem and expenses, to "shakedown" the other. And expenses can be made to run up to a substantial figure.

The lawyer involved does not reap, usually, as large a financial harvest as the "detective."

For all the man of the law gets is his legal fee and the price for securing a divorce in Atlanta is not high—there are too many lawyers and the competition is too keen. Latest quotations put the divorce lawyers' fee at about $25, which can be, if desired, divided into monthly payments to suit the convenience of the client. That is, with many lawyers.

How They Do It. The method of operation in the racket is as follows: The pseudo sleuth first selects his victims. He finds a married couple whose credit rating is high enough and whose possessions are sufficient to promise worth while pickings. From directories, business, church, social and fraternal publications he secures all available information.

Next he makes an opportunity to see the husband and secure a good physical description. Then he parks in a car near the home of the couple and waits until he sees the husband leave the house some afternoon.

A few minutes later the "detective" calls the wife from some nearby telephone. He talks somewhat like this: "Mrs. Blank. This is a private detective agency speaking. We would prefer not to give our name. We are engaged in a somewhat disagreeable and extremely delicate case and your husband, without intending to, is causing us much inconvenience. We

GERMANY AWAITS HITLER'S SPEECH EXPLAINING COUP

Chancellor Expected To Tell, in Funeral Oration, Why He Seized Power; Plebiscite Advanced.

BERLIN, Aug. 5.—(UP)—Chancellor Adolf Hitler may spring a bombshell on political affairs in his address in the opening funeral ceremonies for President Paul Hindenburg tomorrow noon, well-informed quarters believed tonight.

Der fuhrer surrounded his forthcoming oration in the Kroll opera house with its customary mystery. He spent the week-end in seclusion, working on the address and his funeral oration to be delivered at the graveside Tuesday, at Tannenberg, in East Prussia, where von Hindenburg's body is to be buried.

However, none was given an inkling of the contents of either address, but the expectation grew from developments in Hitler's swift seizure of all executive powers in the third reich that the little chancellor intended to explain his actions.

Prepare Plebiscite. The capital filled with visitors who will attend the opera house services. Members of the reichstag were expected to attend in a body, although there has been no formal convening of that body.

The famous old opera building will be packed also with members of the diplomatic corps, state and national government representatives, high army and navy officers, labor organization representatives and other dignitaries.

Meanwhile, government workers proceeded with detailed preparations for the August 19 plebiscite when the people will be asked to approve Hitler's seizure of presidential powers as the sole head of the German state. The ballots will bear the text of Hitler's letter to Interior Minister

FAMOUS AVIATRIX KILLED IN CRASH

Plunges to Death During Race at Dayton.

DAYTON, Ohio, Aug. 5.—(AP)—Apparently losing control of her light biplane at a low altitude when it was caught in the backwash of five other ships in a featured women's race, Mrs. Frances H. Marsalis, noted woman flier, was killed as her machine crashed near here this afternoon.

In her early thirties, Mrs. Marsalis was co-holder with Helen Richey of the women's endurance refueling record, established last December at Miami, Fla.

The Garden City, L. I., aviatrix was rounding a pylon at the far end of a triangular, 50-mile course during the chief event of the day at the national women's air meet at Dayton municipal airport in nearby Vandellia.

The race was on the closing event of a two-day meet. No one on the flying field saw the accident.

Mrs. Marsalis was thrown clear of the wreckage. She was living when rescue crews reached her, not far from the wreckage, which caught fire. Placed in an ambulance, she died on the way to a hospital.

Mrs. Marsalis twice with a companion established world's endurance records for women. She was known as one of the most skilled women fliers and was in constant demand at air shows throughout the country.

The Miami flight of Miss Richey and Mrs. Marsalis, who was in her early thirties, still stands as endurance record for women.

A year previously Mrs. Marsalis and Mrs. Louise Thaden McPhee, five minutes. Mrs. Marsalis was described as "absolutely fearless" by aviators at Floyd Bennett field, New York. She began flying about 10 years ago at her former home in Centerville,

PUBLIC INTERESTS TO BE PROTECTED, MONTANANS TOLD

Greater Part of Fight To Retain Properties for Benefit of Nation's People Has Been Won, President Declares.

BUILDING OF PARKS LAUDED IN SPEECH

Building Era Now Under Way With Definite Aim of Constructing Human Happiness, He Says.

By FRANCIS M. STEPHENSON. GLACIER NATIONAL PARK, Mont., Aug. 5.—(AP)—President Roosevelt in his first talk to the nation since his territorial inspection tour asserted tonight the government was just beginning its fight to save the resources of agriculture and industry from "the selfishness of individuals."

"We have won the greater part of the fight to obtain and to retain these great public properties for the benefit of the public," Mr. Roosevelt told the nation in this great park of the government. "We are at the threshold of even more important a battle to save our resources of agriculture and industry against the selfishness of individuals."

The president spoke from Two-Medicine Chalet after a circle of this park of miniature glaciers and natural beauty.

Cites Power Development. "People understand, as never before, the splendid public purpose that underlies the development of great power sites, the improving of navigation, the prevention of floods and of the erosion of our agriculture fields, the prevention of forest fires, the diversification of farming and the distribution of industry," he said.

"We know more and more that the east has a stake in the west and the west has a stake in the east, that the nation must and shall be considered as a whole and not as an aggregation of disjointed groups."

Developments of the national parks "has not been a simple bed of roses," the president asserted. "As in the case in the long fight for the preservation of national forests and water power and mineral deposits and other national possessions, it has been a long and fierce fight against many private interests which were entrenched in political and economic power. So, too, it has been a constant struggle to protect the public interest over private exploitation at the hands of the selfish few."

Nation in Building Era. "We are definitely in an era of building, the best kind of building—the building of great public projects for the benefit of the public and with

Storm Foils Scheme Of Trio of Robbers

The rain and electrical storm which caused Atlantans plenty of trouble late Saturday night likewise saved trouble for a few persons.

J. F. South, of 3222 Grant Park place, S. E., driver of a Yellow cab, reported to police early Sunday that a woman and two men commandeered his taxi and set out to rob just as many places as they could. One of the men drove and the other held a pistol on South.

The started out from downtown, where South said they got into the car and proceeded out Ashby street. In the 700 block the taxi motor dived out in the heavy rain, so the three robbers only South before fleeing. They got $5.

- SHANGHAI, Aug. 6.—(Monday)—(UP)—Loyalist troops were reported today to have routed a communist army, capturing Foochow, treaty port in Fukien province, south China, and lifted temporarily the menace to foreign lives and property in that area. The 87th division, supported by a squadron of bombing planes, routed the red rebels, dispatches from the war zone said. The rebels fled in disorder northward toward Kuitien. The position of the 5,000 communist fighters was reported precarious. Heavy fighting occurred around the town of Shuihou, not far from Foochow, which was held for a time by the rebel forces. Aid from the 39th army corps was rushed to the 87th division bearing the brunt of the battle. The former reached Kuitien, cutting off retreat in that direction. The situation in eastern Fukien province, along the Pacific coast, continued grave, the authorities admitted. Foochow, however, was reported returning to normal with danger to Americans residing there lifted, following government victories.

Air Corps 'Demolishes' Army In Fort Benning Maneuvers

FORT BENNING, Ga., Aug. 5.—(AP)—The air corps has given the infantry an idea of what it may expect from this branch of the army's fighting force in the next war.

A gas attack by planes speeding at 300 miles an hour was the latest development demonstrated as 50 planes engaged in a week-end of maneuvers at this largest infantry school in the world.

The first class of the United States Military Academy, here for two weeks' intensive training, watched the planes pounce on an imaginary enemy employing all its newest methods of polishing off a hostile force with dispatch.

Swift attack planes started the simulated warfare appearing suddenly over battalions of infantry and artillery, theoretically annihilating them with poisonous gas. The attackers squirted whitewash—harmless substitute for gas—on the troops.

One of the most up-to-date additions to the air corps fighters, a trim motor bomber, soared over the battle area only to be attacked by a little pursuit plane which darted and dived at the plane while a smoke screen was planted by a group of speedy ships in preparation for an air raid about to develop.

Flying in groups of three, nine attack planes each carrying four machine guns mowed down silhouette targets as a like number of bombers dropped 30-pound projectiles to blast away rectangular targets representing a moving wagon train.

Preliminary disposed of nine Martin bombers soared over to complete the job. Flying high and hidden behind clouds much of the time, they found their targets with 100 pound demolition bombs, then cut loose with 300 pounders which demolished targets and tore gaping craters in the earth.

In the final phase of the make-believe warfare, nine bombers attempted to wipe out a designated stronghold. Eighteen pursuit planes, fighting like mad hornets, tore into the bombers with a spectacular display of zooming and diving.

Officers directing the training of the West Point cadets and infantry school officials said the demonstration, one of the most complete attempted by the air corps, did much to prove that air attack is effective against ground troops under ordinary conditions.

Head of City School for 23 Years and Ex-President of State Body Dies

WEST POINT, Ga., Aug. 5.—Funeral services for Professor Walter P. Thomas, 70, former president of the Georgia Education Association, and long prominent in Georgia school work, who died here Saturday, were held this afternoon.

He was shunted aside while the legislature busied itself with passing Senator Long's "spite" bills against New Orleans.

Huey Said Fishing.

Judge Nat Bond, in civil court, has issued an injunction ordering troops to disperse. The order was served on Huey Long and on Lieutenant Ruma P. Avendano, in charge of the detail at the registrar's office.

Adjutant General Ray Fleming, troop commander, is hiding from civil officers and had not been served. He and Huey were reported to be on a fishing trip, favorite pastime of harried politicians in Louisiana.

Lieutenant Avendano was cited for contempt last night and was ordered to court Thursday to show cause why he should not be found guilty.

If Long and Fleming fail to appear in court Tuesday when Judge Bond hears the city's motion for a permanent injunction against troops, the city will ask that they be charged with contempt. Armed with this order, city officials plan to send their army after the Kingfish and the general.

Week's News in Review

By RICHARD HIPPLEHEUSER

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—(AP)—To Germany came the long-awaited crisis. Adolf Hitler's power was absolute.

The army swore fealty to Dr. Fuehrer. On the surface, all was quiet. But on the lips of the world was this question:

How long will it last? The answer was found in the German of old. The venerable von Hindenburg was the stabilizer, the check on national socialism.

Now the Nazi power is supreme. It is the state.

But from all indications it's a power derived from support of Germany's industrial magnates—support of the Nazi style of fascism to state off the threat of communism and socialism.

No sooner had Hitler consolidated his chancellorship with the presidency than he gave further evidence of this. He named Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, Reichsbank president and spokesman for the industrialists, as minister of economics, czar of the reich's trade and financial policies.

Hitler ordered a plebiscite this month to sound out public sentiment on his rule. Whatever he runs for, whether president or monarchial ruler, he can't lose. There'll be no opposition. The result will be "rubber stamp" approval of his actions.

The allegiance of the army, almost immediately given, was to Hitler himself—not merely to the state, as before.

The army had been an enigma. Its allegiance, its loyalty to Hindenburg, the "sturdy oak." Often the question had been asked:

With Hindenburg dead, would the army follow Hitler? It did, without a known ripple of protest.

Inside the reich, speculation hinged in the main around what form the Hitler leadership would ultimately assume—a monarchy, but with Hitler as ruler and not the Hohenzollerns.

But outside of Germany, the prime topic was the international aspect. One of the dominant questions asked was:

Would he continue the fight for political and economic union with Austria? In Austria, the Mussolini-inspired fascist leaders frankly were dismayed by Hindenburg's death.

But they voiced a hope for peace, giving reassurance that the door has not been closed on Franz von Papen, former vice-chancellor ordered to Vienna by Hitler to smooth the Austrian-Italian ire after the abortive Nazi putsch that brought death to Dollfus.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS. Back Home. The president came back to the United States.

He disembarked from the cruiser Houston at Portland, Ore., after his post-war cruise to Latin-America and Hawaii.

Before entraining for the capital, the president, speaking at Bonneville, on the banks of the Columbia river, spoke of government power development projects as "yardsticks" that

The Japs also professed a desire for reduction. But they looked with no favor on the Swanson proposal. They don't want the cut applied evenly. They want an evening of the 3-3 ratio between Britain, the United States and Japan.

PRICES OF TOBACCO PLEASE VALDOSTANS

Same Poundage Brings Twice as Much Money to Bright Growers.

VALDOSTA, Ga., Aug. 5.—Tobacco sales on the Valdosta market for the past week—three days—totalled 1,279,298 pounds, which brought $297,962.92, as compared with 1,321,034 pounds which brought $169,830.40. The three days' sales of approximately the same tonnage this year brought to the growers $128,132.53 more than they received last year.

For the first week in 1933 the average paid for tobacco was $23.35, while the average for 1934 was $23.27. This large increase in average has brought widespread satisfaction to growers and business interests throughout all of south Georgia and such portions of Florida as grow bright leaf tobacco. At the end of the first week's sales last year disappointment prevailed throughout the entire section and the growers bitterly protested against the low prices. Mass meetings were held and growers adopted resolutions and protests were made to state and federal government officials, but the low prices continued to prevail during that season.

With the beginning of the 1934 crop came the federal government plan for a reduction in acreage. Adverse weather conditions followed, and the crop grew, reducing the yield materially on the acreage permitted by the government.

The result has been, it is believed, a less tonnage than that allowed by the government and this combination has brought about a wonderful change in the prices. Buyers show more enthusiasm than heretofore, and the bidding each day has been unusually spirited.

Barbara Bell Patterns

An Ideal School Dress for the Young Girl.

The fall wardrobe for the well dressed school girl is apt to be full of variety this year for the new designs appearing in the advanced showings of smart fashions give obvious proof of the international source of their inspiration.

The chic simplicity of the dress pictured in the sketch reflects the dignity which has made England famous for its children's clothes. It is smart and useful. Its classic lines combine becomingness, suitability and neatness, the three major points that must have first consideration in assembling a practical wardrobe for daily wear.

Sailor suits of this type come in all sorts of smart, plain materials. Early in the season they will be seen in navy blue cotton pique trimmed with red braid and a tie. Sometimes the collar is white and sometimes of the same material as the dress. The braid, however, must always be bright and contrasting. Cotton poplins and broadcloths are popular, too. They are uncrumpled and retain a pressed and well-groomed look longer than many of the lighter weight materials. Later in the season, when a child comes into the air, this dress will be welcomed in severe serge of a dark blue color. This material conforms to the fixed standards of juvenile smartness all over the western hemisphere, and it holds its title for supremacy through no whim of fashion, but rather through the test to which it has been put by succeeding generations of school children. Flannel is very smart, also. Its characteristic softness, however, argues against it in the matter of well-washed pleats for it requires more than one weekly pressing to keep its appearance at par.

Barbara Bell Pattern No. 1405-B is designed in sizes 8, 10, 12 and 14 years. Size 12 requires 2 1/2 yards of 54-inch material.

Price of pattern 15 cents. Every Barbara Bell pattern has an illustrated instruction guide that is easy to follow.

STRIKERS' RANKS ARE THINNING OUT

Return of Stock Yards Men Leaves Minneapolis and Alabama Sole Fronts

By the Associated Press.

Settlement of one walkout was consummated yesterday while reports of unrest came from other strike centers.

Non-union men moved out of the stockyards at Chicago and the union handlers returned to work after amicably ending their 12-day strike.

In Alabama, a union organizer, John Dean, of the United Textile Workers of America, was abducted from his hotel room and carried across the state line to Fayetteville, Tenn., by a group of men who warned him not to return.

Dean, organizer of the strike involving more than 12,800 Alabama cotton mill workers, returned to Huntsville, however, escorted by strikers but made no report of the affair to officers.

Oleson's Ultimatum.

A thundershower broke up meetings of union and non-union textile workers on opposite sides of the railroad tracks at Haleyville, Ala., ending a tense situation as the two groups hooted and hurled defiance at each other.

Employers and striking drivers were told to reach an agreement at Minneapolis to end the 20-day tie-up of trucking activities by midnight, or the streets of the city could be closed to all but national guardsmen acting under orders of Governor Floyd R. Olson.

As the reports were coming in from labor fronts, the national labor board at Washington swung into its second year with a new name, a new personnel and new plans for the future. The same fundamental formula will be used for settling strikes, the board said which was summarized as follows:

"Strikers to be taken back without discrimination, an election to be held to determine who represents the workers, all other matters in dispute to be submitted to arbitration."

STOCKYARD WORKERS RETURN TO LABOR

CHICAGO, Aug. 5.—(AP)—Non-union men moved out of the stockyards today and the union handlers, their 12-day strike settled amicably, returned to duty.

Some 800 cars, 52,000 head of livestock, were on the tracks for unloading and animals started down the chutes as usual. Commission men, however, suggested that farmers hold shipments to prevent glutting the market and a break in prices.

The 800 strikers yesterday reached agreement with the Union Stockyards and Transit Company regarding working conditions. The company promised a 48-hour week for all regular employees and a 40-hour week for "extra men" in each week that receipts reached 4,000 cars.

UNION ORGANIZERS KIDNAPED IN ALABAMA

HUNTSVILLE, Ala., Aug. 5.—(AP)—Abduction of a union organizer from his hotel room here early today broke the calm existing in a strike of 5,000 textile workers and precipitated a situation authorities described as menacing.

The union leader, John Dean, international representative of the United Textile Workers of America, who organized the strike, was abducted.

Departure of Sailboat Over Ocean Delayed

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., Aug. 5.—(AP)—A damaged keel today forced Alfred A. Lastinger, instructor at the Daytona Beach Springs youth, to postpone until tomorrow the departure of his solo attempt to cross the Atlantic in a 10-foot sailboat.

High tide this afternoon, scheduled embarking time of the venture, found the tiny boat lying on the beach sands here, almost ready to sail after workmen had bored all night, straightening the 350-pound keel and repainting it.

Lastinger, eager for the spray on his cheek and the wind in his hair, spoke of leaving late this afternoon but was persuaded to wait high tide tomorrow afternoon. Repacking of supplies in the tiny hold of the little ship and fitting it for the voyage were begun tonight.

The weatherman predicted general fair weather for Atlanta and vicinity today, with a temperature range of 74 to 90 degrees.

Fair Day Predicted For City and Vicinity

The lowest temperature in the last several weeks was recorded early Sunday morning at 64 degrees and the mercury did not go above 88 during the entire day. The low point was the result of the rain and electrical storm which raged over Atlanta early Sunday night and Saturday night, according to the United States weather bureau.

The weatherman predicted general fair weather for Atlanta and vicinity today, with a temperature range of 74 to 90 degrees.

NEGRO LAYS INJURIES TO ROW OVER SPOILS

Claiming that he was stabbed in a fight over division of spoils gained in a robbery Saturday night, a negro who lives in the police of 363 Whitehall street, and officers arrested Carden on "suspicion." Willoughby said he and Carden held up a white man Saturday night and Sunday when they were dividing the money they got into an argument. Carden admitted to police he cut Willoughby but said they were fighting over a 50-cent gambling debt.

STOLEN CAR WRECKED WHILE POLICE PURSUE

Five minutes after the automobile of Aaron Beasley, of 159 Hagood street, was reported stolen, police found the car, saw it wrecked, and captured two of four negroes who were riding in the machine.

Radio Patrolman Sam Johnson and S. C. Tuck heard the report of the car being stolen and discovered the machine on Edgewood avenue a minute later. They chased it and the driver crashed into a telephone pole a short distance after the pursuit.

Johnson caught a negro who gave the name of Raymond Burley, 20, of 20 Howell street, and Motorcycle Patrolman Leo Nahlik, who was passing the car, saw it wrecked, and captured two of four negroes who were riding in the machine.

The two negroes, held for larceny of an automobile, implicated a third as the thief and said he had just picked them up.

They were taken to the station and a strike involving more than 12,500 operatives in the state, was taken from his hotel room by five unidentified men.

The men drove Dean to Fayetteville, Tenn., 32 miles distant where he was dumped in front of a hotel. The organizer was captured back to Huntsville by two scores of strikers, but made no complaint to officers.

Into the growing unrest among strikers, there was thrown kindling today at Haleyville where non-union workers gathered across the railroad from a union mass meeting, jeering and hooting challenges as speakers addressed the workers, all of whom were from outside Haleyville.

A thundershower dispersed the union workers, representing 20 local of the United Mine Workers of America, and eight locals of the United Textile Workers of America.

Text of Roosevelt Address At Glacier National Park

GLACIER NATIONAL PARK, Mont., Aug. 5.—(AP)—The text of President Roosevelt's talk tonight follows:

I have been back on the soil of the continental United States for three days after most interesting visits to our fellow Americans in Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, the Canal Zone and the territory of Hawaii.

I return with the conviction that their problems are essentially similar to those of us who live on the mainland and furthermore that they are enthusiastically doing their part to improve their conditions of life of all Americans.

On Friday and Saturday I had the opportunity of seeing the actual construction work in the first two national projects for the development of the Columbia river basin. At Bonneville, Ore., a great dam 400 miles inland from the last place where the river leaps down over rapids to sea level will provide not only a large development of cheap power but also will enable us to produce another 70 or 80 miles into the interior of the country.

Gen. Johnson Observes Fifty-Second Birthday

CHICAGO, Aug. 5.—(AP)—General Hugh S. Johnson, dynamic NRA chief, celebrated his 52nd birthday today by accomplishing a feat that has baffled him all summer. He relaxed.

With the whole day to himself, no strikes to be settled, and hecklers of the Blue Eagle temporarily silent, General Johnson spent his birthday in luxurious idleness in a hotel. His only activity was to read a flood of birthday messages from all sections of the nation, including greetings from President Roosevelt.

The general expects to leave for Washington tomorrow in an army plane.

COUNCIL FIGHT LIKELY ON 'WINNIPEG SYSTEM'

Body Also Will Seek To Override Key Vetoes at Meeting Today.

The Winnipeg system of tagging traffic violators will be discussed in city council today as a fight is made by Councilman Joseph E. Berman, of the fourth ward, to outlaw the practice of trying summons to automobiles without personal service on the offender.

Motions to override Mayor Key's veto of restoration of basic salaries in about 15 cases are also expected to be heard at the semi-monthly meeting this afternoon. The mayor has consistently asserted that the city is in no position to raise pay of employees but an effort will be made to override his veto, it was said.

The police committee of council has said that the Winnipeg system will continue in effect in Atlanta, although the members readily agreed with City Attorney James L. Mayson that such service is illegal, which is Berman's contention for dropping the system. However, the police committee says it is determined to continue its use and that regular legal summons will be served on those who ignore the tags.

Prisoner at Tower Caught Sawing Bars

Six prisoners in a cell on the third floor of Fulton tower were foiled in an attempt to saw through the bars of the cell block on Sunday afternoon when they were caught one of the convicts in the act of sawing through an iron window bar.

The man was spotted sawing at the window of the cell block on the north side by a watchman employed by the Atlanta Milling Company, which is next door to the tower. The watchman reported to Deputy Sheriff Chester Jones and the officer, with other guards, found Mike Thompson, 20-year-old, in the act of sawing through the bars of the cell block.

Officers said Thompson is under sentence of from 3 to 10 years for robbery. He is now held in solitary confinement.

SCHENCK TO WED BRITISH ACTRESS, HOLLYWOOD HEARS

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 5.—(AP)—A romance between Joseph Schenck, the former husband of Norma Talmadge, and Merle Oberon, British actress who played Ann Boleyn in "The Private Life of King Henry VIII," was reported here today.

Friends were advised the president of Twentieth Century Pictures had married Miss Oberon in Monte Carlo, or that they would marry in a few days. There was no verification. The couple have been seen together frequently at European resorts.

After her divorce Miss Talmadge married the comedian, George Jessel.

FOUR TENNESSEANS KILLED IN CRASHES

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 5.—(AP)—Automobile accidents in middle Tennessee claimed four lives today and brought injuries to 11 persons.

David Johnson, 22, of Triune, Tenn., was killed when a car in which he was riding was in collision with an automobile in which four negroes were riding.

John B. McLain and Raymond Teacock, two of the negroes, were killed. Seven persons were injured in the wreck which occurred near Triune.

Willie R. Holder, 24, of Shelbyville, was killed in a crash near his home, and four others were injured. The car in which the Shelbyville folk were riding crashed into a bridge and overturned in a ditch.

Little was known of the cause of the Triune crash. Officers said the cars hit head-on but that the driver of neither car could say just how or why the accident occurred.

NATIONAL GUARDSMAN KILLED BY ACCIDENT

Adjutant General Lindley W. Camp said Sunday a report from Camp Foster on the death of William Archer Jones, national guardsman killed while traveling on a troop train near China, Ga., indicated he lost his life accidentally.

The adjutant general said he had not yet had an opportunity to go fully into the report, which was signed by five officers who made the investigation, but that it was evident Jones fell from the train accidentally.

From the report, he said, it appeared that Jones had eaten something which made him ill and had gone to sit on the steps of the train to recover. Apparently he lost his balance and toppled to the ground. He received a broken neck.

BRITON URGES CANADA TO BOLSTER NAVY FORCE

TORONTO, Aug. 5.—(AP)—Sir Reginald Tyrwhitt, recently appointed admiral of the British fleet, expressed today the hope that Canada will consider increasing her present small naval force, not merely for her own benefit but in the interest of the empire at large.

Sir Reginald believes the royal navy has not at present enough cruisers for the protection of the empire's merchant marine and her world sea trade routes, and for an effective blockade against an enemy in case of war.

He said he hoped the admiralty in the near future would decide to build an adequate number of additional cruisers, although he refused to be drawn into a discussion as to whether the dominions should share in the cost of expansion.

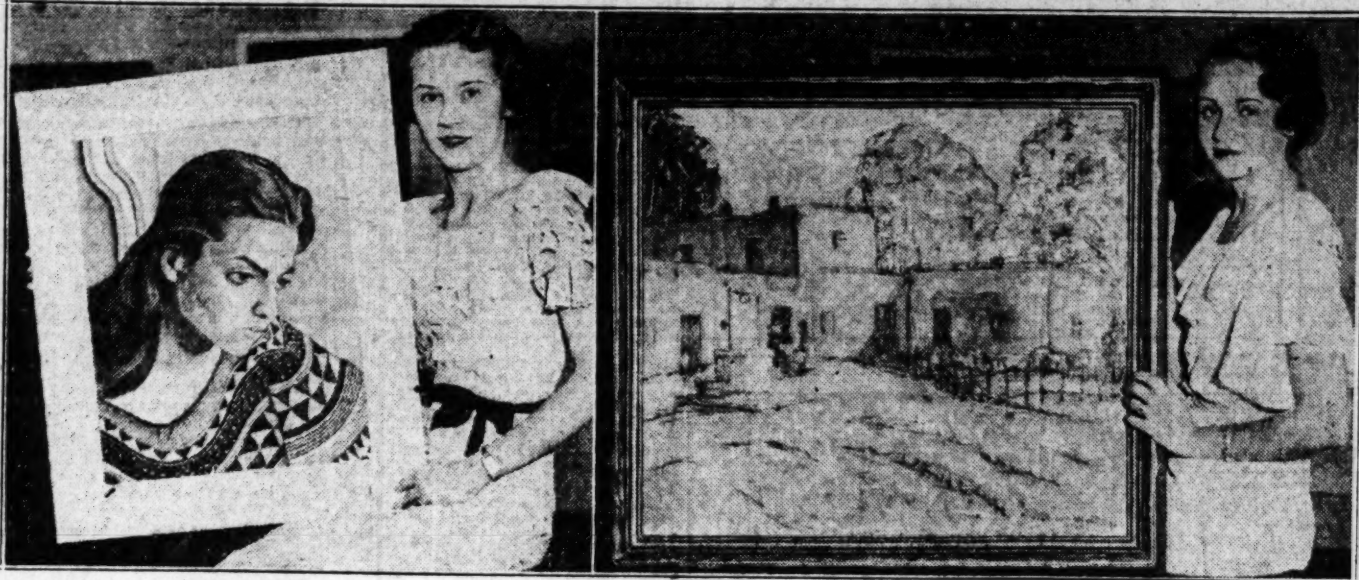

3,923 OFFER SERVICES TO REBUILD KEY WEST

KEY WEST, Fla., Aug. 5.—(AP)—All but 77 of the more than 4,000 persons eligible have volunteered to give their labors, without compensation, in FERA's rehabilitation program for this island city.

Mayor W. H. Malone said he was confident the 100 per cent enlistment goal would be reached by tomorrow night. The voluntary work corps will be assigned to duties in the transformation of the city into a tourist resort.

Key West, battered by adversity, surrendered its fate into the hands of the relief administration last month.

Vivid Paintings by Two Atlanta Artists Put on Exhibition Here

Paintings by Virginia Woolley and Mary Elizabeth Hutchinson, Atlanta artists, will be shown at High Museum of Art in an exhibit beginning today to continue throughout the month. Shown above are two outstanding examples of the work of these two popular painters. At left is "Rosalie," an impressionistic portrait study by Miss Hutchinson. Miss Gene Snow is the admirer. Miss Woolley's "Houses in Toas, N. M.," shown on the right, has caught the vivid coloring of the subject under treatment. Miss Margaret Walker is posed with the painting. Miss Woolley, who now resides in Laguna Beach, Cal., is represented in the museum's permanent collection by "Provincetown Street." Her work has been exhibited at the Paris salon. Miss Hutchinson, who has gained favorable comment from New York art critics, will exhibit 11 portraits. Her "Italian Girl" and "Two of Them" are on permanent exhibition at the museum. Ex-Marine of Chinese War Times Now Supervisor in Local Garage

By SARA WILSON.

Once a marine, always a marine. You can shoot down the army and blow up the navy, but the marines always come out alive. And J. H. McElroy, who is at present teaching military discipline to the staff employed in a local garage (his official title is "floor supervisor"), bears out all of the old adages concerning the "devil-dogs."

He is at present dead, according to three eminent Chinese doctors in Shanghai, who prophesied his demise just before his leaving China in November of last year. But since that time he has gained 25 pounds. The knuckles on his left hand have been cracked around 18 times, according to his own estimate. But the hand is still there.

Mr. McElroy spent four and one-half years in Shanghai. He went over with the marine corps and barely escaped being put off along the way to serve in Nicaragua and later in Gnam. But he was taken on to Shanghai.

But Schenck indicated ruefully that Miss Oberon had said "no" to such a suggestion.

Mr. McElroy was married on the day that the war began. His bride was a young Portuguese-Spanish girl whose home was in Shanghai. The big guns were tuning up outside and the crack of rifles split the silence as they stood at the altar waiting for the priest to pull his robes over his military uniform. The priest, by the way, was a Frenchman with a title and a long beard. The two witnesses were the girl's brother and a frightened Chinese assistant who paid more attention to the shooting outside than to the ceremony.

After the wedding the newly-married couple had to run down the street with bullets falling about them in lieu of the usual shower of rice. The bride was taken to a house already overcrowded with refugees and spent her honeymoon there alone, while Mr. McElroy patrolled with the volunteers.

After the war was over and Shanghai was quiet once more, the fighting ex-marine was sought out by an old Chinese general. The general offered Mr. McElroy $550 a month to join the scrap against the Japanese in Manchukuo. But since the salary, princely as it was, would not be given in advance, Mr. McElroy declined.

Edited Newspaper.

Nor were his activities in China limited only to fighting and to making cigarettes. He was for some time editor of the Marine corps newspaper, the Walla-Walla, which in Chinese means "much talk." During the war he reported for the Shanghai Evening News, and since that time he has written several short stories.

"I left there on account of my health and the depression had something to do with it, too," he said. "China wasn't hit until a year and a half after the United States, but by 1933 they even had bread-lines for foreigners."

Mr. McElroy's native home is Atlanta and his parents live on Erin avenue, so he naturally headed southward when he came back to the United States. Barring an accident in which his newly-bought automobile was damaged more than he was, the journey from the west coast was comparatively uneventful.

In spite of the bumps and bruises he has received Mr. McElroy looks like a slender college senior. A little browner, somewhat keener and with a small tattooed star on his arm—by these alone is he distinguishable from the rank and file of good-looking American boys. When asked if his present job of directing traffic in Belle Isle garage did not grow monotonous, he shook his head.

"Take Whatever Comes,"

"I learned out there to take whatever comes without getting excited or bothered," he said. "That's the whole secret—to go straight ahead and take whatever comes."

Most of Mr. McElroy's spare time at present is spent in preparing for

ILLINOIS TO SEEK MURDER CHARGE AGAINST BOY, 13

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Aug. 5.—(AP)—Billy Atares, 13, of Chicago, was held in the Sangamon county jail today and State's Attorney Albert H. Greening said he would seek an indictment for murder against the boy when the grand jury convenes next month.

Atares was held after Ray Wilder, 11, of Auburn, Ill., was found shot to death along a railroad right of way August 3. The boy, Greening said, admitted the shooting but insisted it was "accidental" and that he was "very sorry."

A companion, Jack Beam, 12, also of Auburn, was quoted by the state's attorney today, though, as saying that when the shooting occurred, Atares turned to him and said:

"Stay with me in this, now; we'll say it was an accident."

Greening said that his information was that the shooting was not accidental and was motivated by a desire on young Atares' part to inflict grown-up revenge on a "squealer."

Costly exposure of the lad, Greening said, told him that the dead boy had told of two robberies the Atares boy allegedly had committed.

The case recalled that of George Rogalski, 12, of Chicago, who lured two-year-old Dorette Zielnow to an abandoned ice house to satisfy his curiosity and then left her to die of exposure. Rogalski was sentenced to 10 years in the penitentiary.

the homecoming of his wife and 11-month-old daughter, whom he has not seen since she was 12 days old. They will land in Vancouver on August 12 and she will be in Atlanta several days later.

When asked if he would ever go back to China, the bronzed fighter shook his head. He added that he might go back in a few years if his wife were homesick, but that for the present he was "here to stay."

"And that's about all I can think of," he said. "Unless you'd like to hear about the time I was mobbed on Broadway in the heart of Shanghai, or the time I found a murdered Chinese on my doorstep, or the butcher knife that—"

GROUP SEEKS CHANGE IN S. C. RELIEF SET-UP

COLUMBIA, S. C., Aug. 5.—(AP)—Plans for a state-wide movement to petition President Roosevelt for a change in the federal relief administration in South Carolina were announced tonight by Ben E. Adams, of Columbia.

Adams, chairman of a steering committee representing the unemployed, said copies of the petition would be printed and distributed immediately in every county in the state.

Plans were made at a meeting of the state steering committee today to have the papers circulated by unemployed persons who are dissatisfied with the present handling of federal relief.

Members of the committee said Governor Blackwood and M. J. Miller, state relief administrator, had "turned their backs" after agreeing to make adjustments in the relief administration last June.

—now newly explained by Science

When you've used up your energy at work or play—smoke a Camel and notice how soon you feel your flow of natural energy snap back.

This experience, long known to Camel smokers, has now been confirmed by a famous New York research laboratory. Camel smokers enjoy a positive "energizing effect"—a healthful and delightful release of natural, vibrant energy. Millions have found this to be true. A typical Camel experience is this, Ellsworth Vines, Jr. speaking—

"Championship tennis is one of the fastest of modern sports. After four or five sets, you sometimes feel that you just can't take another step. That's when a Camel tastes like a million dollars. Not only does the rich, mellow fragrance appeal to my taste, but Camels have a refreshing way of bringing my energy up to a higher level. And I can smoke all the Camels I want, for they don't interfere with my nerves."

So, whenever you want a "lift," just smoke a Camel. You can smoke them steadily. For the finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS in Camels never get on your nerves.

GOLD SHIP RAISED AFTER 33 YEARS

Steamer, Sunk by Iceberg Off Alaska in 1901, Is Brought to Surface.

JUNEAU, Alaska, Aug. 5.—(AP)—Treasure hunters are about to find—so they hope—a reputed $3,000,000 fortune in Klondike nuggets and gold dust which sank with the vessel Islander nearly 33 years ago.

Early in August the rusty bulk of the ship will be dragged ashore from waters 365 feet deep, salvagers said today, and divers and workmen can enter the battered, barnacle-crusted craft in search of safes in which gold was shipped to the States from the rich diggings of the great Klondike field.

It was August 14, 1901, when the Islander, pride of the Canadian Pacific fleet, bore a gay party of miners who had struck it rich and a heavy consignment of gold and smashed into an iceberg in Stevens passage.

Today the divers saw the result—the bow shattered off, the decks crushed, the funnel toppled over, the bulk covered with rust and barnacles. She hangs, mostly under water, suspended by great cables between two salvage ships, and even now divers cannot solve the mystery of the vanished gold dust.

Did the safes slide forward and into the ocean as the terrific crash happened, the question is asked. Did the pursers and passengers attempt to dispose of the money as they sought to escape—these are questions that cannot be answered until the marine encrustations can be scraped away.

The 1,600-ton craft was grappled deep in the water and hauled laboriously toward shore, in operations never attempted before in salvage history, so far as is known here. The salvage work so far has required two years and cost $500,000.

She is being heaved on Admiralty island. Frank Curtis, Seattle, is in charge of salvage operations.

50 PERSONS INJURED AS BULLS STAMPEDE

CARDOBA, Spain, Aug. 5.—(AP)—More than 50 persons were hurt today, some seriously, in a stampede of fighting bulls.

A large crowd watched the animals charging into each other in a field. The beasts, apparently excited by shouts, suddenly turned on the spectators.

The bulls were small and no one was gored, those hurt being trampled.

FOUR STATES TO HOLD OPPOSITION DAY

Voters in Missouri, Two Virginias and Kansas Will Go to Polls.

By the Associated Press.

Voters in Missouri, West Virginia, Virginia and Kansas in primaries Tuesday will select candidates for three senate and 35 house seats and one governorship.

National interest focused on the democratic senatorial contests in Missouri and West Virginia. In Virginia, Senator Byrd and nine house incumbents are unopposed for the democratic nomination and the primary is a formality.

The three-way Missouri democratic senatorial contest is a battle over party control in that state. Tom Pennington, Kansas City political boss, has pitted Judge Harry S. Truman against Representative Milligan, supported by Senator Clark. Representative Cochran is the St. Louis incumbent. The challenger, Senator Patterson is unopposed for the republican nomination. Eleven of the 13 democratic house members are seeking re-election.

Clem L. Shaver, former democratic national committee chairman and former Senator William L. Chilton are among candidates for the democratic senatorial nomination in West Virginia to oppose Senator Hatfield, republican, who has three opponents. Five of the six democratic house members are unopposed for re-election.

Six democrats are fighting for the gubernatorial nomination in Kansas. Governor Alf M. Landau has one opponent, John H. Brinkley, the "great gump" physician—for the republican nomination. Three democratic and four republican representatives seek re-election. Two democrats and one republican are unopposed.

GERMANY AWAITES HITLER'S SPEECH EXPLAINING COUP

Wilhelm Frick, asking him to speed the referendum vote, and the cabinet's decision to hold the plebiscite. The two paragraphs will appear in the words:

"Do you, German man, you, German woman, agree with this regulation?" Under this line will be the words: "Yes," and "no." One is to be checked. Efforts to give Hitler practically a 100 per cent approving vote are being made by Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbels, propaganda minister.

At Neudeck, East Prussia, the body of von Hindenburg lay in the study of his chancellery. The body was placed in a casket and covered with flowers, sending a heavy perfume through the room and corridors.

The newspapers concentrated on funeral plans rather than politics for the moment. Hitler was relegated to working obscurity, and kept to himself in his chancellery.

HITLER BANS WAR AS GERMAN AIM

allegations that Germany was indirectly meddling in Austria in a manner that might make war inevitable.

Hitler said that he was not an Austrian. He answered brusquely. "But we cannot prevent Austrians seeking to return to their ancient connection with Germany."

Answering the interviewer's question as to whether Hitler aimed at restoring the connection, he said "Austria is not a problem of the present day. Austrian independence lies outside all discussion and nobody questions it."

It is natural that Germans of Austria should incline toward union with Germany, but we all know this. The aim is impossible at present because of opposition to it from the rest of Europe would be too great.

Questioned concerning his present immense powers within Germany, gained since the death of President von Hindenburg, he replied that every year he had submitted his powers to the German people who could confirm or withdraw them.

He said that he was not a dictator. He said that he was not a dictator. He said that he was not a dictator.

Things That Make Women Appreciate Beauty

This Hot Weather Women Hunt for Face Powder That Stays On

BY MIGNON

There is so much of everything on cosmetic counters to confuse customers that it is a mighty help to women to have some one try products first and then tell them honestly what they are like. It must be some one they trust and whose judgment means something. So I have made a special effort to be slow in deciding and to give you a report that you can depend upon. Tastes differ, and sometimes I may not recommend just the right product for you, but I am going to tell you what things are like as carefully as I can, and I think you will pretty nearly know by the description whether or not YOU will like them.

1.—Face powders are a necessity all the time, but good ones are doubly necessary in hot weather. The idea being to get a fine powder that will stick and not too heavy a powder to clog the pores. I have found lately two that I recommend for their sticking qualities and for their lady-like fragrance. The first I believe is a flower scent. It is quite fragrant in this column phone Mignon at The Atlanta Constitution. Please do not write unless you live outside the city, in which case enclose a stamped, self-addressed, very real one, and your address envelope.

2.—The other is redolent of rose in which case enclose a stamped, self-addressed, very real one, and your address envelope.

Huge Salaries of Film Stars Will Be Cut Under NRA Code

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 5.—(AP)—It pays to be a Hollywood movie actor, but the pay is going to be slashed soon, and slashed sharply.

Heads of the movie industry know now, if they didn't know some time ago, that the salary question under the NRA code must be straightened out.

The "convincer" was the full text of the report on salaries by Sol A. Rosenblatt, deputy code administrator. Several of the salient points in the report were made public some time ago, but Hollywood has just finished reading the complete document. It fairly bristles with statistics that run into the millions of dollars and it takes in the full range of production, distribution and exhibition.

Aside from commenting that there is no fixed law about how high a movie star's salary should be, the report does not cheer the big money makers in the industry. It says the ratio system is to undergo an epochal readjustment very soon—probably just as soon as a committee to investigate the whole field completes its report.

Movie actors averaged $3,298 last year, or $900 less than they earned two years ago. Executives averaged $53,326, compared to $92,427 in 1931. Directors averaged $20,315 against $31,525 two years before.

The top salary in the business went to an actor, presumably Will Rogers. It was $215,000. Of the 50 highest paid contract players, 29 were actors, and of the next 50 highest, 17 were actors.

There were several very high salaries last year. One actor drew $300,000; two of them received $275,000; two executives were paid between $250,000 and $275,000, and four actors and three executives between $200,000 and $250,000.

No names were mentioned in the Rosenblatt report, but the general understanding is that of these actors are making more money than the president of the United States: Greta Garbo, John Barrymore, Norma Shearer, Wallace Beery, George Arliss, Marlene Dietrich, Joan Crawford, Fredric March, Katharine Hepburn, Constance Bennett, Ann Harding, Janet Gaynor, Eddie Cantor, Clark Gable, William Powell, Warner Baxter, Richard Dix, Ronald Colman, Dolores Del Rio, Clive Brook, Helen Hayes, Richard Barthelmess, Claudette Colbert, Joe E. Brown, Jimmy Cagney, Edward G. Robinson, Elissa Landi, Irene Dunne, Ruth Chatterton, Ramon Novarro, Edmund Lowe, Bing Crosby and Sylvia Sydney. Actors are getting 8.28 per cent of the gross. The lowly extra is paid 1.39 per cent.

There is nothing cheap about the picture. Mrs. Reid, as one of the directors, has dealt sympathetically with her material. But it merely brings up questions and answers. One girl comes from a conventionally respectable home and the other from the so-called modern atmosphere of cocktail parties. One is instinct and the other knowledge. And both fare badly in the end. As a social guide, the picture is flabby and meaningless.

But as a drama, "The Road to Ruin" is good. Helen Foster is fine in the difficult role of the innocent young girl. Glen Boles, as Tommy, is equally good. And the climax of the film delivers a blow that is heavy and hard.

Those who prefer their psychology and sociology in printed form where the emotion of a story is eliminated will probably call the picture a "bait" for the seriously mucky-minded. And perhaps they will be right.

Accompanying the feature are three shorts, one of which is an extra-long skit on "Aging Hollywood," with an all-chimpanzee cast. All in all, however, the shorts are not short enough. —SARA WILSON.

Friendly Counsel

By CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

Dear Miss Chatfield—I live in a little town where there are few educated, cultivated people. For two years before I went away to my state university I dated a girl in my neighborhood and fell in love with her unintentionally. I am now a senior at the university and ambitious to get on in the world. When I began to compare this home town girl with those I met at college I realized that she was not suitable to be the wife of an educated man, however, she is attractive and comes of a respected family. I have been giving a big rush to another girl who has a fine social position, and though I didn't know it when I started going to see her, her family is wealthy. Here is where the rub comes. I can't get the old girl off my mind. When I try to make love to number two the face of number one comes up before me. I have tried to force myself to forget her but the harder I try the more the memory of her stays with me. I know it will be a compromise for me to marry an uneducated girl. Can you help me solve my puzzle?

Answer: Are you not making a mistake in trying to settle the question of choosing a wife before you have finished your education? In the meantime if you have a burning ambition to be an educated gentleman, married to an educated woman there is no reason why the girl you left behind should not set about to prepare herself to meet your requirements. Graining, of course, that she feels about you as you do about her.

It is a delicate business to attack a friend or loved one about so personal a matter as her lack of culture, yet if your education has opened up new vistas to you (without making you arrogant and snobbish) there is no reason why you shouldn't, with tact and kindness, try to give your girl a peep into the far country which you have glimpsed. She hasn't had the stimulation of association with people who know books. She doesn't know what she has missed or why she is cramping her life by leaving off her education. Surely she has the capacity for learning if only somebody can arouse her ambition, else she wouldn't have put such a hold on a young man who puts such a high premium upon the cultivated mind.

So, why not have some frank, yet kindly, conversation with her on the necessity for going to school, for broadening her vision? Even though she is not financially able to go to college, there are other methods of educating herself. Then if your romance should not develop and you should not be married, the girl would still have reaped the advantages that learning unquestionably gives.

Some of the most cultivated men and women have never seen the inside of college halls. Culture doesn't consist in the possession of a college diploma and a Phi Beta Kappa key. It consists in acquaintance with, and practice of, the niceties of life. It manifests itself in good manners and consideration of others' feelings, in tolerance, in sympathy with the unfortunate, in the dignified acceptance of what life yields of joy and sorrow, in restraint and self-control, in the modulated speaking voice and in the correct use of written and spoken language. Culture is the thing that separates men from animals and makes them behave as spiritual and sentient creatures, rather than as brutes. Strange to say, it frequently happens that those reared in homes of wealth and privilege cannot acquire culture while those reared in homes of poverty and little privilege can and do acquire it. The answer rests with the individual.

Now then if the young lady who has wound herself around your heartstrings has this capacity you needn't be afraid of her holding you back in your march to success. If she lacks it you can soon discover it. Education hasn't done much for a man if it hasn't made him a missionary to those who haven't had similar advantages to his own. It is hard to conceive of a man's having better opportunity to do such missionary work than you now have. Should you turn your back on the girl you love without giving her a chance to qualify, you might go through life thinking sorrowfully of her. Should you marry another while the memory of her is keen in your consciousness, every time you had a disagreement with your wife you would sigh and say: "If I had only followed the dictates of my heart and married the one I loved, life would be sweeter."

Counting a Hand.

There is probably no phase of card playing, either to the declarer or to the defense, that is more important than counting. An accurate or even an approximate count on a hand almost invariably will give the declarer the key to the right line of play, by indicating either whether to play for a finesse or for a drop, whether to try to set up a suit or to crossruff, or which way to take a two-way finesse.

An interesting example of how a count is first obtained and then employed is shown in the hand below:

Prickly Heat Is Hard on John David and Lois

By FLORENCE LA GANKE.

John David was restless and uncomfortable. Lois was afraid he was going to be sick, and was getting ready to call the doctor.

But before doing that, she gave him his bath and discovered what was the matter. The poor child was all broken out with prickly heat. She knew what to do for that, because Ann had nearly gone mad with the burning, itching rash last summer.

First, Lois took off the few clothes her son was wearing. Thank goodness, she had not been at fault in dressing him too warmly. Then she which she had dissolved some baking should be taken. With the count, South of course knew that the percentages heavily favored playing West for the club queen.

Mrs. Wellington Stevenson, chairman of the scholarship committee, reports $875 of the scholarship funds now loaned to four young women. These scholarships, named for two former presidents of the chapter, Mary Scott Candler and Alice S. Alden, are particularly valuable, in that they are for the full term of four years and that each year the students receive a gift of $75 each, given by the college to the chapter, and also because the money is loaned without interest, to be returned by the student after graduation.

The following members will assist Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Stevenson: Mesdames T. M. Griffin, Guy Webb, J. Davis Camp, A. L. Wade, T. C. Jackson, V. A. S. Moore, A. J. Woodruff, W. H. S. Hamilton, H. F. Higgins, Guy Hudson, C. F. Stallings, Miss Susie Johnson and Miss Maggie Webb.

GRANT IS GIVEN SECOND SEEDING AT BROOKLINE

Allison Ranked First in Historic Meet; Parker Rated Third.

BROOKLINE, Mass., Aug. 5.—(AP) The major league tennis flock will converge on Longwood tomorrow and during the next two weeks New England followers of the lawn sport will have a chance to observe most of the outstanding players, both men and women, in action.

A high-class mixed company will compete for the historic Longwood bowl and other trophies here and the following week the men will polish off for the national championships in another famous fixture, the Newport Casino tourney which will probably find Frank Shields and Sidney Wood, United States Davis cup singles players, making their first important domestic start.

George Lott and Lester Stoeffen, America's victorious doubles internationalists, are due to land in New York from England on Tuesday and rush to Longwood to take part in the team play, the start of which will be delayed until their arrival.

Due to its shift from a mid-July date, the 42nd competing Park of the Longwood bowl will have one of the best fields in many years.

Wilmer Allison, of Austin, Texas, second ranking national singles star, has been top-seeded for the bowl competition, which he won in 1928, and Brookline's finest gift to tennis, Sarah Palfrey, Wightman cup heroine, headed the women's draw.

Behind Allison were seeded Bryan "Bitty" Grant, of Atlanta; Frankie Parker, of Spring Lake, N. J.; Berkeley Bell, the New York-Texas Yonkers; Johnny Van Ryn, of Philadelphia; Jack Tibbals, Los Angeles; the improving Henry Purcell, of Seattle, and Donald Budge, of Oakland, Cal.

On the favored list with Miss Palfrey were Josephine Cruickshank, of the United States Wightman cup forces; Mrs. Johnny Van Ryn; Virginia Rice, of Boston; Jane Sharp, Los Angeles; Mrs. Marjorie Morrill Painter, Dedham, Mass.; Mrs. Mary Greer Harris, Kansas City, and Katherine Winthrop, prominent young Bostonian, who was runner-up to Dorothy Andrus in the Maidstone Club final on Saturday.

"He Was Our Man, But He Done Us Wrong!"

The title of this little piece is, "He was our man, but he done us wrong."

It is dedicated to Jumbo Jim Elliott, late of the Crackers, now of the Columbus (Ohio) Red Birds, a Cardinal firm.

Jumbo Jim Elliott lost five ball games for the Crackers, and at no time did he resemble a baseball pitcher who could win in the Southern association. His five losses stopped an upward surge by the club.

And what has Jumbo Jim Elliott done with Columbus, a double A club? Oh, he's won four straight games, and is looked upon as one of the better pitchers in the circuit.

Now Wilbert Robinson, when he purchased Jumbo Jim Elliott, figured he was buying a pitcher who could pitch the club into a pennant, or certainly into the immediate vicinity of one.

And Jumbo Jim Elliott has vindicated his judgment. He bought a good pitcher who could have helped the club, but Jumbo Jim felt he had been demoted, coming down from the major leagues, to the Southern. And so he complained of the heat. The heat, he said, was terrible.

The heat in Columbus and that section of these United States is, of course, much worse than it is in the south. Or at least that section of the south in which Jim Elliott was to pitch.

But once he got himself some real heat, of the sort where people fall over dead from it, he proceeded to pitch baseball. And a lot of our best citizens are wondering about Jim Elliott. There is a suspicion that he—well, forget it. He's gone. And he's pitching the sort of baseball he should have pitched for Atlanta.

Quite often these pitchers sent down from the majors to the minors in one fell swoop, can't get over that major league complex. But it's just too bad that he had to lose the club five ball games to show how much he disliked being demoted to a Class A league.

There should be some manner in which to take care of cases such as the one of Jim Elliott's. He hired out to pitch. Baseball needs a few more laws.

THE PITCHERS COLLAPSE.

Atlanta's ball club will continue to lose games until the pitching staff is rehabilitated. Barnes, Jacobs, Elliott and others failed to deliver as anticipated.

With Dutch Schmidt and Hugh Casey hurt, Abbott was forced yesterday to depend on three recruits, Kirby Higbee, Williams and Cobb.

In addition to injuries to Schmidt and Casey, the former having a badly battered toe which will render him less effective for some time, Joe Palmisano, the first-string catcher, was hurt Sunday, and will be out for a few days.

The club, as it stands now, simply can't be expected to win. Pitching happens to be about 75 per cent of any ball game. Nor do I see any reflection on the management in the present condition. Jacobs, for instance, won a dozen ball games in 1932 and 17 in 1933. This for a AA club. A bad arm handicapped him here and he lost more games than he won and kept the pitching staff upset. Barnes, a winner for years, couldn't get going. Elliott—well, his case is different. But those pitching failures were utterly beyond the ability of anyone to predict or foresee. It happens to be rather bad luck.

The club was in third place in the first half and a few days ago was but four games out of first place. The present collapse of the staff may carry the club even lower than it is at present, but it is pretty sure to finish in the first division.

Now, of course, is a perfect time for all those who wish to second guess to have a field day. But no matter what happens the club's showing has been an improvement over the past few years in that it was consistently in the race until the last month of the season. And will, I believe, finish well up yet. And I never liked a second-guesser.

THE MINOR LEAGUE PROBLEM.

Atlanta has gone out this year and tried to purchase players who would win a pennant for Atlanta fans.

The four clubs at present leading Atlanta will bear inspection.

New Orleans has been working with Cleveland for years. Once the Cleveland club gets set the Pelicans receive real help. This year Boss and Carson came late to make the club.

Nashville, with a working agreement with New York, had two outfielders who were .400 hitters. Two of those will carry any club. The Giants took the players back and they are starting there. But the Giants sent along Peel, another good man, and the Vols have already received player-help from Cincinnati in exchange for Charley Dressen.

Memphis has no known working agreement, but the Chicks have a farm for players. The Chicks, minus a working agreement, are having trouble getting replacements and are staggering at present. They have lost some eight of the past ten games.

Chattanooga, owned by Washington, has received some help in the past week, and is once more back in the race.

It is fairly obvious that Atlanta, to compete, must effect some sort of major league connection. The good players are simply not for sale at a price which is within reason.

JIMMIE DYKES' CHARGES.

Jimmie Dykes, former Cracker and manager of the White Sox, recently issued a statement which contained a lot of baseball facts.

Dykes charged that the wealthier major league clubs practically controlled the player markets, and said:

"The minor leagues are drying up as a player source. There are practically no worth-while players in the minors who are on the open market."

And that is quite true. The major league control of minor league players is almost complete. The Cardinals own more than a dozen minor league clubs and have player options in many others. The Cincinnati Reds, with the radio money behind them, have a half dozen or more farms. In addition to this individual players are signed—many of them before they have completed college. A minor league club, within a few years, will have no choice. The minors are drying up insofar as they are a market for ball players.

A SCOUT COMPLAINS.

A well-known American league scout was complaining when here some weeks ago.

"I've sent a lot of them through college," he said, "but last week a father came to me and wanted a college and high school career for his boy who looks like a pitching prospect. That was too much. Pretty soon I'll be sending them to kindergarten."

The Scout had signed a number of youngsters who will be sent to privately owned "farms" and who will never appear on the open market.

GIANT HOMERS BEAT PHILLIES; PARMLEE LEE WINS

Terry and Ott Hit for Circuit; O'Doul Pinch Hits.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 5.—The bludgeons of Manager Bill Terry and his troupe of baseball champions hammered hits all over Baker bowl today both inside and out—as the New York Giants turned in a 7-to-0 slug-victory over the Phillies.

While Terry's stickwork, with four hits in four trips to the plate—including a homer—was the big factor in giving the Giants their third win in the current four-game series, there was also the capable performance of Ott and husky Lefty O'Doul.

The former batted in three of the champions' tallies with a long bouncer in the third, his 20th homer of the current campaign, while O'Doul, in a pinch-hitting role in the seventh, clubbed out a two-bagger that scored another pair of runs.

Roy Parmelee limited the Phils to seven hits and hung up his fourth triumph, while Manager Jimmy Wilson was using three twirlers, none of whom seemed effective.

Terry's homer gave the Giants their first run in the opening frame, and after Ott's circuit clout in the third, a cluster of hits gave the New Yorkers another counter in the fourth.

The Phils, meantime, could do little with Parmelee's delivery until the fifth, when they bunched hits to push across two runs.

Phil Collins, who started on the mound for the Phils, was retired in the fifth in favor of a pinch hitter. He was replaced by Euel Moore, who gave way two innings later to Roy Hansen.

PELS DOMINATE SOUTHERN RACE

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Aug. 5.—(AP) Larry Gilbert and his New Orleans Pelicans are having things just their own way in the Southern association.

Looking back over the Birds' endeavors of last week, one finds that they won more games, scored more runs, collected more base hits and knocked out more home runs than any other club in the league.

And all of that helped to entrench them more firmly in No. 1 position for the second-half pennant chase.

In games played from July 20 through August 4, New Orleans won eight of the nine games for an average of .89. Four of their 107 hits were home runs. Their total runs scored in the nine games was 516.

The Chattanooga Lookouts finished second in the weekly parade, their five wins in six starts giving them a percentage of .833.

The Smokies allowed their opponents only 22 runs—a factor in their five victories in eight games. They finished third with a mark of .625.

Nashville broke even in six tilts and Little Rock won only a third of their nine games.

Sixth place in the weekly standings was divided by the Atlanta Crackers and the Birmingham Barons. Each team won two and lost five games for an average of .286. The Crackers made fewer errors than any club in the league.

At the bottom of the eight-club team was the Memphis team, whose efforts produced only two victories in eight tilts.

The contest will close Friday. August 10. The college players will start gathering here next week and training will commence August 15.

ROUND TABLE OF BUSINESS

A General Weekly Review of Commerce and Industry Affecting the Greater Atlanta Trade Territory. Edited by JACK TUBBS

Income Foundation, Inc., Appoints Bounds, Pool & Company Distributors

ATLANTA CONCERN CREATES BRANCH TO SERVE SOUTH

Plan of Foundation Calls for Periodic Investments To Be Made Through Trustees.

Income Foundation, Inc., with home office in Baltimore, Md., announces the establishment of southern headquarters in Atlanta, Ga., and the appointment of Bounds, Pool & Company as southern distributors. The Atlanta office is located at 1701 Rhodes-Haverty building.

In confirming acceptance of their appointment as distributors, Omar Pool and James W. Bounds, whose prominence as investment bankers is southwide, said that they had recognized the broad field for this particular line of investment and had decided to create a special department to handle it.

The Income Foundation, Inc., one of the pioneers in its field, was organized in the latter part of 1930 by a group of Baltimore business men for the purpose of providing a sound and systematic plan of capital accumulation for the investing public including both small and large investors. It is at the present time operating successfully in 11 eastern and southern states.

The plan of Income Foundation calls for regular periodic investments to be made through trustees. The trustees are the Pennsylvania Company for Insurance on Lives and Granting Annuities of Philadelphia and the Equitable Trust Company of Baltimore, The selection of the trustee to be employed is optional with the plan holder. As investments are received by the trustee from the plan holder they are immediately invested at that day's market price in a diversified list of securities. In the final analysis these plans are in reality individual living trusts created for each plan holder. The investment methods employed and the investment portfolio are comparable to that of successful fire insurance companies. It is the duty of the trustee to collect all interest or dividends for plan holders and to reinvest such income in additional securities. This combined with the feature of regular and periodic investments embodies in the plan two of the most important reasons for the successful investment history of the fire companies, namely, the principle of averaging purchases and compounding of earnings. No marginal or partial payment buying are permitted. While the plans are primarily designed to accumulate capital over a period of years, the plan holder at all times retains the right of revocation. The trustee is required upon the request of the plan holder at any time to either deliver such securities that may have been acquired to date or to sell such securities and deliver the cash value of same (less any other undeducted portion of the initial cost of creating the trust). The trust agreement carries no provision for resignation by the trustees prior to maturity.

The plan holder if he so desires at a small additional cost can insure the unpaid investments of his plan in event of death. This added feature, however, is purely optional. The introduction of this "plan for living" in the south will be of interest to the banks and the public, and from the past experience of the distributors in territories previously opened the advantages of the plan are expected to win a strong following under the direction of Bounds, Pool & Company, Atlanta investment bankers.

A complete and wide assortment of newest and up-to-the-minute fall styles in coats, suits and dresses for women and children may be seen this week in the formal fall showing of the New York Stock House, now located in its beautiful and spacious new home at 206-208 Pryor street, S. W.

The showing starts today and the New York Stock House is prepared to make immediate delivery on any order, according to I. D. Wetz, its executive head. Mr. Wetz points out that the New York Stock House offers styles and values which are the same as those in New York, and extends an invitation to the fall showings not only to regular customers of the house but to all retailers of the Atlanta area.

The new stock of fall apparel is one of the most elaborate the New York Stock House has ever offered. Since its organization in Atlanta eight years ago, the New York Stock House has experienced phenomenal success and today is one of the largest institutions of its kind in the south. It was first designed as a branch business affiliated with the Quality Garment, Inc., of Savannah, of which Mr. Wetz had been the head for 29 years.

So rapidly did the volume of the Atlanta business increase that Mr. Wetz found it necessary to move to Atlanta to take personal charge. Continued steady increases in business called for expansion from time to time, and this year, the company moved into its new and commodious quarters on Pryor street. In the rear of this structure, the New York Stock House maintains its own factory, which turns out from 3,000 to 5,000 garments each week, thus assuring retailers of quick delivery of orders of any size.

LLOYD CLEANERS INSURE GARMENTS PAINSTAKING CARE

Skilled Craftsmen, Up-to-Minute Equipment, Purity of Fluids Guarantee Good Work.

Painstaking care in dry cleaning is a vital factor in the preservation of the newness and freshness of the garment, declares Thomas W. Lloyd, president of the Lloyd Cleaners, whose personal supervision of the work done in his plant is largely responsible for the ever-increasing popularity of this concern.

Mr. Lloyd and his associates, fully cognizant of the absolute necessity for thoroughness in all Lloyd Cleaners, have equipped their cleaning plant at 681-83 Boulevard, N. E., with the most modern apparatus available to make this conscientious care possible for every garment.

Nor does this policy's maintenance end with equipment. Only the purest of cleaning fluids are employed, and they are administered by an efficient and painstakingly trained staff of employees, each of whom is a "specialist" in his or her particular phase of the work.

Mr. Lloyd believes that cleaning work of the most satisfactory sort cannot be successfully done unless painstaking care is combined with skilled workmanship, purity of cleaning fluids and the application of the extra necessary time to complete a really first-class job. These things are united in the Lloyd Cleaners plant to the end that this perfection of service may be maintained and in order to insure every garment being returned to its owner not only absolutely clean but restored, as nearly as possible to the luster and life of newness.

The Lloyd Cleaners organization operates three additional branches: at 900 Gordon street, S. W., at 305 Moreland avenue, N. E., and at 1030 Peachtree street—from which every section of the city may be served promptly.

The company, in addition to dry cleaning, offers a complete service which includes cleaning and glazing of furs, mothproofing, hat and glove cleaning, the cleaning of draperies and other household articles, and many other such services.

One of the newest additions to the merchandising field of Atlanta is the Atlanta store of the Economy Auto Stores, Inc., which recently was formally opened at 136 Whitehall street.

The store is being operated as a unit of a Georgia corporation which was organized only this year but has rapidly expanded into branches in four cities of the state, including Macon, Athens, Rome and Atlanta.

Owners of Economy Auto Stores, Inc., are a group of Atlanta men, prominent in the city's business and civic life, with E. S. Walkley president. Mr. Walkley was connected with the Alexander-Seewald Company for sixteen years and resigned as sales manager of that concern to head the new corporation.

"The policy of Economy Auto Stores, Inc., says Mr. Walkley, 'is to bring to the motorist every needed item in supplies, accessories, tools and parts of prices that represent the lowest possible levels commensurate with quality products.'

Mr. Walkley adds that the corporation is in position, and will place its positive guarantee behind this policy because of its membership in the gigantic B. F. Goodrich Company, group buying organization, which is a combination of independent merchandising concerns throughout the country who pool their resources to effect large savings in the purchase of merchandise. "These savings," Mr. Walkley explains, "are passed on to a patron of Economy Auto Stores, Inc."

One of the popular features offered customers by the company is its budget payment plan, under which tires and radios may be purchased and paid for by comparatively easy installments.

TARZAN AND THE CITY OF GOLD No. 115

When the Queen asked if Gemmon thought Doria beautiful, Tarzan answered lightly: "Perhaps he does, but you know what love does to the eyes of youth." The Queen stepped toward him. "What do you think?" she demanded. "Is she as beautiful as Nemone?"

"As the brilliance of a far star is to the brilliance of the sun," he replied. The answer pleased Nemone, and she came closer still. She pressed against him, touching his bronzed shoulder. "Love me as I love you, Tarzan," she whispered, her voice husky with emotion.

Suddenly the spell was broken by the rattle of chains at the far end of the room. With a terrific roar, the lion Belthar sprang to his feet. Nemone sprang away from the ape-man with a strange expression of anger, half fright. A light, almost of madness, glittered in her eyes.

"It is always something," she said. "Belthar is jealous. A strange bond links the life of that beast to mine. Sometimes I think he is myself in another form. But whether that is true or not, Tarzan, this I know: when Belthar dies, I die!"
